Dieter Roth's 1958-64 "Vitec" series is a landmark in the history of pop art. This facsimile edition, published by Zucker Art Books, is a faithful reproduction of the original work, featuring a vibrant red background and a central graphic of a stylized American flag. The artwork is a collage of various elements, including a grid of blue and white squares, a yellow and black striped pattern, and a central red and white striped area. The overall effect is a bold, graphic statement that challenges traditional notions of art and design.
